“Go your way;
your faith has saved you.”
- Mk 10:52

Excerpts from the Lectionary for mass
(c) 2001, 1998, 1970 CCD

HOMILY BY FATHER JOHN LUDVIK

In the Gospel, blind Bartimaeus will not stop yelling for Jesus to have pity on him, until Jesus finally calls for him. At this point the funny parts of the story start. Why doesn't Jesus go over to Bartimaeus? Why wait for the blind man to find his way to Jesus? And when Bartimaeus does find his way to him, Jesus asks him what seems like the dumbest question: “What do you want me to do for you?” What on earth would anybody suppose Bartimaeus wants? He's blind!

Wanting to see is wanting to know the true nature of reality, hidden in one way from a person when he is blind. And when Jesus heals him and Bartimaeus can see, Jesus says that Bartimaeus's faith has saved him. But why? What does Bartimaeus's receiving his sight have to do his being saved?

Here we need to notice what Bartimaeus actually says to Jesus in answer to Jesus' question to him. Bartimaeus does not say to Jesus, “I want my sight.” He says, “I want to see.” To want sight is to want a capacity which can be used for all kinds of purposes—raising sheep, making money. But to want to see is to want the connection with reality that the exercise of sight makes possible.

Wanting to see is wanting to know the true nature of reality, hidden in one way from a person when he is blind. Once we see what Bartimaeus asks for, the funny parts of the story make more sense. When Jesus calls Bartimaeus to himself, he gives Bartimaeus a small period of time to consider what he really wants before Jesus asks him. Then the presence of the Lord and that question serve as a call to Bartimaeus to commit himself to just one heart's-desire—and Bartimaeus finds it: I want to see.

Seeing isn't limited to seeing the blue of the sky or the road to home. It is also a matter of seeing the truth about things, or even of seeing the Truth himself. So Jesus gives Bartimaeus all that he asks for. Bartimaeus sees not only the world around him but also his Lord. And in seeing Jesus, Bartimaeus accepts the Giver together with the gift of sight.

I love that Bartimaeus “throws off his cloak” and follows Jesus “on the way.” A cloak is both a beggar's covering and his livelihood. I imagine it's a cloak he wraps around his shoulders every night for warmth and security. A cloak he spreads out on the ground every morning to collect coins from passersby. A cloak he folds again to gather up each day's meager earnings at nightfall.

I am in awe of the trust Bartimaeus has in Jesus by the end of this story — a trust deep enough to enable him to cast aside what's most familiar and safe, in exchange for “a way” that is new, and full of uncertainty.

"I will console them and guide them."

Sheepish Question:

When I ask Jesus to open my eyes, what am I looking for?

Questions of the Week

- 1 Do you ever ask God directly and openly for what you want? Why or why not?
- 2 If Jesus asked you today "What do you want me to do for you?" what would you answer?
